PREFACE

In the preparation of this historical sketch and genealogical chart the authors have not attempted to write a detailed history of The Bethea Family nor have they hoped to compile a chart containing the names of all males since the original John Bethea immigrated to this country at the beginning of the eighteenth century. The purpose of this cursory pamphlet is to record in a general way a brief sketch of the family and to furnish the nucleus of a family tree which may be of benefit to future generations.

The authors are indebted to Dr. Alfred W. Bethea, one of the signers of the Secession Ordinance, for the genealogy of the early Betheas. He left a record which his daughter, Mrs. Hannah Jane Bethea, furnished us. This posthumous document was prepared between 1840 and 1845 and is of great value. It began with John, The First, who came from England, and contained the names of his descendants down to the grand children of "Buck Swamp" John and John (Devil). It also included a number of the Cape Fear Branch.

The authors are also indebted to Mr. David W. Bethea, of Dillon, for furnishing much valuable information regarding both Sweat Swamp and Cape Fear branches of the family, and to numerous other individuals throughout the South who aided in the preparation of the genealogical chart.

Upon the foregoing records and the fragmentary information gathered here and there is built the family tree which contains the names of more than five hundred males, and in one instance, as many as eleven generations. Although the records are brought down to the present, 1926, the chart is by no means complete. It furnishes, however, the basic data for a family tree which may be amended and expanded ad finitum.

No attempt has been made to record the names of the females of this unusually large family although they, of course, transmit the blood as do the males. They marry earlier in life, and consequently their descendants are more numerous, but the change of name at marriage makes the compiling of a correct record well nigh impossible.

SWEAT SWAMP BRANCH

David W. Bethea, of Dillon County, has given some details of Sweat Swamp William and his descendants, writing as follows:

"William Bethea came from Nansemond County, Virginia in 1756, and settled on Sweat Swamp where the old "Sweat Swamp" Bethea cemetery now is. He was a staunch Whig in the Revolutionary War. We have evidence that two of his sons, John and Goodman, were very active against the Tories. The records of the Revolutionary War are very incomplete because service in the patriot army was very irregular, and it is very probable that all four sons served more or less in the army.

"William Bethea (Sweat Swamp) died in the latter part of the war or shortly after it closed. William left four sons, John, Goodman, Philip and Jesse. John (Devil) lived between the house of the late Mr. Jenks McQueen and Judson Church. His house was about three hundred yards back of Mr. Boyd Wilkes' residence. Philip lived in and owned the old "Cade Bethea" place, later called the D. W. McLaurin place. Jesse owned the John R. Bethea place and afterwards sold this and bought a place near Allen's Bridge in the lower part of Dillon County. All four of the sons lived and died in the present Dillon County.

"Goodman's sons went to Illinois and States near there. William W. was born in Marion County, May 15, 1812, and went to Lee County, Illinois in 1835. This was William who was son of Philip who was son of Goodman. Philip moved between 1812 and 1814 and settled somewhere "over the mountains" before going to Illinois in 1835. Judge Solomon H. Bethea, of Chicago, was Goodman's great grandson. Jesse's sons went to Alabama where some of their descendants now live. Philip had no children.

"All the "Sweat Swamp" Betheas in South Carolina are descendants of John (Devil) who had four sons, William, Tristram, John and Cade. William reared a large family. Several of his sons went West or Southwest. Tristram's only son, Philip, went to Alabama and afterwards to Georgia, and some of his descendants are living in Atlanta, Georgia. John had four sons, William, Alfred, David and John. William and John went to Mississippi. John's descendants live in Birmingham, Alabama. One of them is Jack Bethea, the novelist. William's descendants live in Mississippi and South Carolina. David W.'s son, Leroy, lived five years in Texas and afterwards moved back to South Carolina. David W. the other son, lives in Dillon County. Cade Bethea's sons lived and died in South Carolina, except William C., who moved to Texas and died there. His sons live there now."

BUCK SWAMP BRANCH

John (known as "Buck Swamp" John) settled on Buck Swamp just north of the present town of Latta, Dillon County. The location is known as the "Elisha" place and contains the family cemetery. The date of his settlement is not known due to reasons heretofore stated. He married Absala Parker. It is not known where she came from. He may have brought her from Virginia when he came from that State. He had five sons, William, James, Philip, Elisha and Parker.

William settled on the north side of Buck Swamp just opposite his father's location. James settled in the fork of Big and Little Reedy Creeks. Philip settled near Catfish Creek on the Mars Bluff road, the place now a cemetery. He afterwards moved about a mile up the road where he lived many years and died in 1865. Elisha, the next son did not marry and continued to live at the old home with his father, Buck Swamp John. Parker, the youngest son, settled at what is known as Bethea Cross Roads on the head waters of Catfish Creek near the Marlboro County line.

Buck Swamp John's son, William, had six sons, the eldest John C., lived and died at the Cross Roads just north of Latta. He left two sons, Edwin A. and John C. Jr., the former has two sons living in Dillon County and one out West. The latter has only one son, Horace, living in another state. William S., the next son, had only one son, William H. Wilson Bethea, of Marion, is his oldest son. His other son, Van S., is somewhere in the West. James, the third son of William, left two sons, William A. and John D. The first is living in Alabama and the other in North Carolina. Levi, the fourth son, left one son, George, who died several years ago near Latta. George had several sons. Some live in Latta and some have gone West. Evander and Frank, the other two sons of William, left no sons.

James, the second son of Buck Swamp John, had several sons, Samuel J., John R., Thomas and Claudius. All left sons except Claudius. Samuel J. left three sons, Andrew J., David N. and Samuel J. Jr. Andrew J. is the father of Andrew J. Jr., who was Lieutenant Governor 1915-1919, Herbert A. Bethea now of Latta, South Carolina and Dr. Percy A. Bethea of Darlington, South Carolina. David N. left several sons, now all dead except S. Legare living in a distant State. Samuel J. Jr., has one son of same name at Latta, South Carolina. John R. had several sons now all dead except Lewis and Walter of Latta, South Carolina. Lewis is the only one having any children. Thomas, the third son of James, lives in Mississippi and has several sons.

Philip, the third son of Buck Swamp John, had two sons Elisha and James R. Elisha C. had nine sons that grew to manhood. They were as follows: Philip, John, Robert, James, Elisha C. Jr., Pickett, Morgan, William W. and Julius. Seven of these were in the Confederate Service. James R. had five sons to be grown, viz: James, Philip Y., Elisha J., D. McLeod and Robert L. James, the eldest, was in the Confederate War. The descendants of Elisha C. and James R. are somewhat scattered. Quite a number now live in Dillon, Florence and Marion Counties, while a great many are in Alabama and Mississippi, and a number in the State of North Carolina.

Elisha, the fourth son of Buck Swamp John, never married. He lived and died at the old home, the "Elisha" place as it was called.

Parker, the youngest son of Buck Swamp John, had two sons, Harlee and Benjamin P. The former moved to Florida and died there, leaving quite a family. The latter moved to Onslow County, North Carolina. He left several sons now living in that section.

CAPE FEAR BRANCH

We have no information as to the family of Tristram who settled on Cape Fear River, except the genealogy from records of Dr. Alfred W. Bethea and some recent additions gathered by David W. Bethea. Some of this branch must have been in the Revolutionary War, as Tristram settled on Cape Fear River some years before Sweat Swamp William and Buck Swamp John came to South Carolina.

WAR RECORD OF FAMILY

The record of the family during the Revolutionary War shows that the family were staunch patriots and belonged to the Whig party. Gregg's History of the "Old Cheraws" mentions two who fought for independence, Buck Swamp John and his nephew, John (Devil). There were very probably others who served in the war for independence.

The war in the Pee Dee section was of a partisan character and a great many of the men taking part in the warfare were never regularly enlisted. They came and went as their commanders called. A great many of Marion's men were of this class, who were mainly organized to fight the Tories. Their service in the Confederate War was equally patriotic. They believed in the principles for which the State seceded and every man of family of the required age, regardless of his people at home, joined some company and went to the front. One man of the Buck Swamp set, Elisha C. Bethea, had seven sons in the Service. There may have been others of the family living in distant States who had equally as large a delegation in the Confederate Army, for most of the Betheas had large families wherever they located.

SCHOOLS

The schools in olden times were of the most primitive order and the teachers totally incompetent. The State of North Carolina furnished most of these and as a result progress in education was slow, but as times grew better and the people became more prosperous they exercised more care in the selection of teachers. In those days very few boys went to college. The girls had every advantage in this respect. Almost everyone of respectability sent their girls to some female institution.

The Buck Swamp Betheas, about 1858, realizing the necessity of a good central school, founded Hofwyl Academy. They employed the best of teachers and in a few years the school became famous and was patronized from adjoining counties. This school furnished the means of education to the Bethea youth for several years. The course of study prepared a student for the sophomore and junior years at college. This school was kept open until about 1873. Some of the teachers were Harris Covington, Wm. McDuffie, W. J. McKerall and J. W. St. Clair. These especially were educated men and knew how to teach, and a good many boys went to college from this school well prepared for the classes entered there.

RELIGIOUS AFFILIATION

The general religious affiliation of the family is with the Methodist Church. Some few belong to other churches. For the most part they are not very religious. They leave this phase of life to their wives. Some few are intensely religious and sometimes there is one who mixes his religion with worldly indulgencies which are not of an elevating nature, but these inconsistencies are equally characteristic in other families. Little Rock Church was the church of the Sweat Swamp set and Dothan that of the Buck Swamp families.

OCCUPATION

The general occupation of the family has been farming while some have engaged in the mercantile business. Quite a number studied medicine and became practitioners. Several became lawyers and others local preachers. At least two belonged to the Methodist Conference. Rev. Morrison Bethea, of the Episcopal Church of North Carolina, is a rising man in that Church and now occupies a high position. There have been very few of the Betheas who were politicians in the full sense of the word.

Very few of them have been office seekers. One of the Bethea family has been Lieutenant Governor of the State. Some of them have been members of the General Assembly, and a number of them have filled minor county offices.

The records show as follows:

Andrew J. Bethea was Lieutenant Governor	1915-1919
Philip Bethea, Member of General Assembly	1800
John C. Bethea, Member of General Assembly	1844
James R. Bethea, Member of General Assembly	1848
David W. Bethea, Member of General Assembly	1860
J. F. Bethea, Member of General Assembly	1886
P. L. Bethea, Member of General Assembly	{ House 1911-1914 Senate 1919-1922

Dr. Alfred W. Bethea was a member of the Secession Convention of 1860 and was killed by the deserters in 1865. He was very prominent in his day and stood high in his profession. Solomon H. Bethea, of Chicago, was a lawyer and at his death was judge of the Federal Court.

INCIDENTS MENTIONED IN HISTORY OF "OLD CHERAWS"

"About this time (1750) valuable additions were made to the settlements on Little Pee Dee in the upper part of what is now Marion District. Among these were the Betheas of whom William Bethea was one of the first and the most prominent. He was an active Whig. A large and respectable connection of this name are yet found in Marion." pp 86.

"During the war several Tories hearing that William Bethea, who lived near the present division line between Marlboro and Marion Districts, had a large quantity of money concealed in his house, set out for the purpose of securing the treasure. They found Bethea at home but he had taken the precaution to select some other place of security for the fruits of his labor. They used every means to extort the secret from him and as a last expedient poured melted pitch upon his head but all in vain. They found he would pay the penalty with his life, and left without further molestation.

"Sometime after and when the Revolutionary struggle was over, John, a son of William, met Snowden who was one of this marauding party in the woods and without difficulty overpowered him. With a loose bridle which he happened to have, he attempted to hang his victim, but was not able to get him suspended high enough. He then broke his legs and carried the murderous design into execution. Bethea commonly known as "Sweat Swamp" because of his residence thereon was a man of remarkable strength and activity. On a previous occasion he met at night a Tory, who was also a man of much physical power but after a short struggle succeeded in tying him, putting him on his horse and carrying him as a prisoner to Colonel Hicks." pp 394.

"In the fork between Lumber River and Little Pee Dee was a noted band of Tories who continued to hold out against the Government, even after it became firmly established. A party of Whigs consisting with others of Jordan Gibson, William and Thomas Neville, Enos Tart, John Bethea, Sr. (Buck Swamp) and John Bethea, Jr. (Devil) and Levi Odom banded together to bring these outlaws to terms. A man named Courtney who acted as commissary for the enemy in these parts was particularly obnoxious to the Whigs. He was killed." pp 393.

GENEALOGICAL CHART

LEGEND

The horizontal figures at the top of the columns represent the generation numbers while the vertical figures to the left of the columns indicate the numbers arbitrarily assigned to direct lineal descendants. Every name on the chart has a vertical and horizontal number. Thus, Father John, the first Bethea of whom there is any record, is designated on the chart as 1-1. The chart number of John (Devil) is 1, 591-4 while that of Captain Elisha, who holds the record for the greatest number of sons, is 261-5. The vertical numbers are sufficiently separated on the chart to take care of family additions for the next century without necessitating any changes in the original numbers.

The names printed in black face capitals represent individuals while the names printed in light face small type are merely repeaters and are included in the chart for convenience in tracing lineal descendants and ancestors or in determining the kinship of individuals.

The chart is very useful in tracing kinship. The formula for finding the relationship of two persons of the same generation is derived as follows:

Let  $X$  = The desired kinship or cousinship to be found
     $Y$  = The generation number of persons in question and  $Z$  = The generation number of their nearest common ancestor.

Since children of the same grandfather are first cousins and there is one intervening generation between grandfather and grandchildren, it is necessary to reduce the generation number of the higher generation by a single unit.

Therefore, the formula is  $X = Y - Z - 1$

Thus, if the generation number of A and B is 7 and the generation number of their nearest common ancestor is 3, they are third cousins. On the other hand if the generation number of C is 6 and that of D is 7 and the generation number of their nearest common ancestor is 4, they are first cousins, once removed or what is popularly but incorrectly known as second cousins. If the generation number of two persons and that of their nearest common ancestor are consecutive they are brothers (or sisters as the case may be).
